WINTER MEETING IN CHARLESTON

The Charleston Natural History Society will host the winter meeting of the Carolina Bird Club in Charleston, SC January 27-29, 1984. Meetings will be held at the "new" Old Charleston Museum, 360 Meeting Street in downtown Charleston. The Museum was founded in 1773, but it recently moved into excellent new facilities which house extensive natural history collections, including 10,000 study skins. Dr. Will Post, Curator of Ornithology at the Museum, and Dr. Dennis Forsythe, Citadel ornithologist, are coordinating a varied program of field trips and speakers. Field trips will include Magnolia Gardens, Dixie Plantation, Francis Marion National Forest, Sullivans Island, Johns Island and McClellansville where Christmas counts can reach 165 species.

ACCOMODATIONS: The new Mt. Pleasant Days Inn is holding a block of rooms at a special rate until January 13. It is only minutes away from topnotch birding areas such as Pitt Street Landing, spoil areas at the Yorktown parking lot, Fort Moultrie, Isle of Palms, Sullivans Island banding station, and I'on Swamp. Take the Georgetown exit off the big Cooper River Bridge from Charleston. The Days Inn is immediately on your right on Hwy. 17 By-Pass. For reservations use the form provided in this Newsletter.

REGISTRATION: will begin at 3:00 p.m. Friday, January 27 at the Charleston Museum. The evening meeting will be at 8:00 p.m. at the Charleston Museum.

CHECK LISTS AVAILABLE

CBC member Ricky Davis has prepared a pocket size daily field check list with 450 species of eastern North American birds. These lists have been brought up to date according to the 1983 AOU order and newly adopted names. Cost is $6 for 100 or $3.50 for 50. Order from Ricky Davis, 2310 Glascock Street, Raleigh, NC 27610.

FALL MEETING REPORT

Weymouth Woods-Sandhills Nature Preserve in Southern Pines, North Carolina was the site of the Carolina Bird Club fall meeting. This is an outstanding attraction in itself, but the Moore County Bird Club also hosted a full weekend of activities. The meeting committee consisting of John and Libba Watson, Marion Jones, Charlotte Gantz, Peggy Todd, Dick Thomas and Esther Fleming did a commendable job in planning the program and field trips.

Speakers for the weekend were Dr. James H. Barrow, Jr., professor and director of Hiram College Field Station, Hiram Ohio and Dr. Donald A. Hammer, senior wetlands ecologist with the Division of Land and Forest Resources of the Tennessee Valley Authority. Bill Stoffel who teaches photography at Sandhills Community College gave a workshop on nature photography and Jay Carter let us in on some of the field work on the NCSU Red-cockaded Woodpecker Project.

Although our meeting missed the height of the fall migration, a respectable species count was reached on the field trips. A Merlin seen at Woodlake was the second record for Moore County.

SPRING MEETING PLANS

Make your plans now to attend the CBC Spring meeting at Wilmington, NC May 31-June 3, 1984. CBC will meet jointly with the Wilson Ornithological Society giving CBC members a rare opportunity to hear outstanding scientific papers presented by Society members.
